

WAR SUMMARY.

WEDNESDAY.

Jackson, Tenn., Oct. 6.
Gen. Ord and Hurlbut came upon the enemy yesterday, and Gen. Hurlbut having driven in small bodies of the rebels the day before, after seven hours hard fighting drove the enemy across the Hatchie towards Corinth, capturing two batteries, about 300 prisoners, and many small arms.

St. Louis, Oct. 7.
Dispatches received at headquarters bring intelligence to the effect that on Saturday morning Gen. Schofield advanced upon the rebels at Newton, a small town about fifty miles north of Springfield, and after a two hours engagement the rebels broke and fled in all directions.

The force of the enemy is estimated at 15,000 men.
Our loss is trifling.

THURSDAY.

The correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat has the following details of the battle at Corinth:

On the morning of Oct. 3 our outposts were attacked by the enemy, 6 miles northeast of Corinth. Our men under Rosecrans stood up manfully, but the rebels poured in upon us so that we were forced slowly backward.

The enemy were inside our breastworks pushing us backwards towards the town, when darkness put an end to the fighting for the day. Brig. Gen. Hackleman was killed, and Gen. Oglesby was wounded.

The fighting was renewed on the 4th, and a heavy cannonading kept up for an hour or two, when two rebel Gens. had been disabled, and their battery of 7 guns captured.

At half past nine the sharpshooters met the enemy three quarters of a mile in advance of our line of battle, and a murderous fire was opened on them, when our forces retired slowly.

For a few moments the engagement became general. The slaughter of the rebels was terrible, but they pushed forward, charged on our works, and captured a small fortification in which a battery of the 1st Missouri was planted. All seemed lost, and temporary panic seized our men. The rebels once more marched into the streets of Corinth; but new batteries opened on them, and our men, under direction of a few courageous officers, and stimulated by their examples, fought desperately, and the advance of the enemy was checked. They wavered, and then fell back; our last battery was regained, and once more it hurled destruction into their ranks.

The day was saved, and the enemy in full retreat.
Our proportion of officers killed is thought to be large.

We lost but four taken prisoners.

FRIDAY.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 9.
It is reported that Gen. Dumont attacked the guerrillas under John Morgan, near Frankfort, this morning, and drove them in every direction, with but very little federal loss.

New York, Oct. 9.
Lee's army is said to be falling back on Staunton.

The condition of the rebel army is one of great destitution. In addition to the want of clothing they are now living on half rations.

The proclamation of the President inspires great terror among the rebels, who fear a counter revolution among the negroes.

SATURDAY.

Stewart's rebel cavalry occupied Merceburg yesterday, and to-day 15 men on horseback entered Chambersburg, Pa., with a flag of truce, and demanded to see the principal men of the town. It was thought that surrender would be inevitable; but to-night it is stated the rebels are falling back.

Cairo, Oct. 10.
Our troops occupy Rine.
We have chased Price as far as Ripley, and as far as ascertained, the chase is still kept up.

Washoe, Oct. 10.
The Sioux Indians in Minnesota are surrendering, and the military authorities are severely punishing the most prominent of the guilty.

The entire number of warriors does not exceed 11,000.

MONDAY.

Harrisburg, Oct. 11.
The rebel raid on Chambersburg is not deemed important here. The disposition of the federal troops at Cumberland, Chambersburg and other points will force the rebels to a speedy return to Virginia by way of Hanover, or make a detour above Cumberland.

Washington, Oct. 11.
Special to the Times.
Gen. McClellan telegraphed to the War Office to-day that none of the rebels now in Pennsylvania should return into Virginia.

A good deal of cavalry and artillery passed through Hagerstown Saturday morning, and Gen. Franklin was there.

The rebels carried off the mayor and council of Merceburg as prisoners.

The raid of the rebels is considered as only a feint to cover the retreat, obtain supplies and distract McClellan, while they fall on Sigel.

Carlisle, Pa., Oct. 11.
A person directly from Williamsport says we lost sixty men in the action near Hancock, where the rebels crossed the river.

Cox's brigade, or a part of it, were the force engaged.

Harrisburg, Oct. 11.
Dispatches are constantly being received at headquarters of the proceedings of Stuart's rebel cavalry since they left Chambersburg.

The rebels respected private property, with the exception of a store, from which they took about $200 worth of boots and shoes.

About five miles from Gettysburg the farmers throughout that region of country assembled in considerable numbers and made a bold stand, capturing one of the advance guard.

Kansas City, Oct. 11.
About 3 P. M. yesterday a skirmish ensued between a company of 80 men of the 5th Missouri cavalry, and a guerrilla band of 104 men, under Quantrel and Childs, near Sibley Landing, resulting in the defeat of the guerrillas. Our loss is one killed and one dangerously wounded. The rebel loss is unknown. We captured the rebel Col. Childs, who is seriously wounded. Capt. David is still in pursuit of the guerrillas.

Louisville, Oct. 11.
Capt. Bowles' quartermaster train was attacked on the morning of the 8th inst. by a party of rebels whom Major Bradford held in check near Frankfort, when Gen. Kirby Smith's whole force appeared on the opposite side of the river, and necessitated a surrender of 17 federal government wagons, and 10 or 12 sutler's wagons.

The rebels also captured 500 of Gen. Sylla's stragglers.

The Louisville Journal says that Greyson was taken by the rebels on the 24th ult. Nashville is completely surrounded by rebels, who are committing all sorts of depredations.

Federal troops there are on half rations.

Washington, Oct. 11.
A dispatch from Commander Gordon to the Navy Department, dated 5th inst., gives a brief account of an attack made upon our gunboats employed in the blockade of St. Johns, and the combined attack by the forces of Commander Stedman and the military by Gen. Brown upon the St. John's Bluff. A powerful battery was effectually silenced, the garrison put to flight, and heavy guns and valuable army supplies fell into our hands.

"The success," the despatch adds, "has been without loss on our side. We retain possession of St. John's river so far as Jacksonville."

THURSDAY MORNING.

Cairo, Oct. 11.
The rebel papers make the Corinth battle more disastrous to them than do our own papers.

The dispatches concerning another rebel raid into Pennsylvania are very conflicting, and we place but little reliance upon them, but give the substance of them for what they are worth.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 13.
Gov. Curtin has just received information, dated Perryville, stating that a rebel force of thirty thousand men made their appearance within 8 miles of Concord, Franklin county, last night at 12 o'clock, and carried off fifteen hundred horses.

The rebels are supposed to be making for the Pennsylvania R.R.

The report says 60 rebel cavalry have been seen in the vicinity of Fayetteville, evidently retreating, but Col Grant and two Regts. Vt. infantry and artillery are there, and prepared to fire at every rebel that appears.

Another report says the foregoing report is probably untrue.

Still another report says that the rebels are in large force at Cashtown, near the foot of South Mountain.

A dispatch dated Frederick, says the rebels have occupied, having divided and crossed the river in small parties, after having been driven from Nolan's Ford. Two farmers taken prisoners by them and paroled at the river, say that Gen. Stewart and Wade Hampton were both with the expedition. The cavalry force was a detachment from the Virginia and South Carolina regiments.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

There are three specialists whose services are only known to the sufferers, namely, Neuralgia, which is purely nervous, attacks without notice, or when least expected, and suffering intense; Rheumatism, which is never welcome, but dreadful in pain, and sickness; Loss of Sleep, which wears on the system, robs nature of its great restorer, and thousands are its subjects.

For the above complaints a remedy is found in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and if any inclination is needed to show the confidence of the people, it is that he takes all agents to refund money when satisfaction is not given.

ECONOMY IS WEALTH.

MARTINE'S PATENT KEROSENE BURNER, To burn Kerosene or Coal Oil WITHOUT A CHIMNEY.

It is the most economical burner yet invented, (saves from the loss by breaking chimneys of the ordinary kerosene lamp), as it can be regulated to burn one week, day and night, for a sum less than two cents, or more than a fortnight, from dark to midnight, for the same sum.

It neither smokes, smells, emits sparks, or is liable to explode. It burns with a steady flame, similar, though rather more brilliant than gas, and can be carried around without the least danger of being extinguished, even if taken out of doors in ordinary weather.

It can be lighted without trouble, and extinguished without smoke or smell, and cannot easily be put out of order.

The undersigned having purchased the exclusive right to use and sell this burner in this State, is prepared to sell Town or County rights on reasonable terms.
